Instruction for SOQ Forms: C255 & D255

(Note do not submit these instructions with the SOQ)

This document is intended to provide general guidance related to the use of the forms that constitute the Statement of Qualifications (SOQ).

Additional information for this submission is contained in the RFQ Section 3.2.1. If there are any conflicts between the RFQ and this document, the RFQ document will take precedence. The Consultant Selection rules do not apply to these forms. The Proposer is to follow the guidance set forth below and as described in the RFQ.

Two forms are required to be filled out by each Proposer, one for the design qualifications and one for the construction qualifications. The first form is entitled SOQ C255 (for the constructor) and SOQ D255 (for the designer). If a firm has both design and construction expertise within one entity, the entity shall fill out both forms.

The information to be included in the SOQ Submission is listed in the RFQ "Submission Documents" section.

~~The information to be included in the SOQ submission under Section G of the SOQ C255 and Section H of the SOQ D255 may be supplicated with up to five pages from referenced persons or other owners of projects with similar complexity. If recommendations from persons in addition to those listed on the SOQ form are included, the name, affiliation and contact information of that person should be included.~~

~~After completion of the information requested as described Section I of the SOQ C255 form and Section K of the SOQ D 255 form may be used to expand on information provided by the Proposer in other sections of the forms.~~

"Conflict of Interest and Unfair Competitive Advantage Certification," forms and other attachments must accompany the SOQ forms as detailed in the RFQ.

Submission of additional material beyond the information required in the RFQ will not be allowed. Additional information such as corporate brochures and pamphlets will be discarded.

~~If the Proposer has an issue extracting the forms from Appendix B of the RFQ document they may also be~~The Proposer must ensure that they use the latest SOQ Forms in the latest addendum to the "0079-2044 RFQ Package" found on The Department of Administrative Services, State Contracting Portal for Department of Transportation projects:
