SkiErg

The SkiErg helps build strength and endurance using the poling motions integral to the sport of Nordic skiing, but you don't need to be a skier to benefit from the terrific low impact and full-body exercise. The double poling movement involves not just arms and shoulders, but also core and legs; classic ski technique (alternating arms) is also possible.

The SkiErg easily accommodates adaptive athletes and those with lower body injuries, as one can sit or kneel and still get a great upper body and core workout. The SkiErg is suitable for use with most wheelchairs.

Wall mount dimensions:

Width	Depth	Height
20.5 in	16 in	83.5 in

Floor Stand dimensions (including SkiErg):

Width	Depth	Height
23.5 in	50 in	85 in
60 cm	127 cm	216 cm

Ergonomic strapless handle

Lightweight, high-strength drive cords for smooth — feel and long life.

Aluminum frame with powder coat finish makes it light and durable.

Internal drive mechanism allows for both double-pole and classic (alternating arms) technique. Minimal maintenance required.

Optional floor stand with anti-skid, wear-resistant base offers firm footing. Wood interior.

Caster wheels make it mobile (floor stand only).

BikeErg

The BikeErg is the latest addition to our family of sport-based ergometers. The BikeErg uses our air resistance flywheel to create a smooth, guiet ride that responds to your efforts. The damper is your "gearing," allowing you to adjust the feel of your ride. The BikeErg has a clutch, so when you stop pedaling the flywheel keeps on spinning. With the same powerful Performance Monitor 5 (PM5) as our indoor rowers and SkiErg, the BikeErg provides instantaneous workout feedback, with a wide variety of displays and workouts to choose from.

ATHLETIC

ecoreathletic.com

At Ecore, we've challenged ourselves with one simple question:

Can a floor do more?

Yes.

We believe that a floor is more than just a passive surface. It must work with the human body to provide support and sustain the ability for individuals to do what they love—longer. Your flooring should go beyond your expectations; it should benefit those who interact with it. At Ecore, we engineer performance well beyond industry standards and, through technology and innovation, are driven to provide solutions for challenges that real people face every day. Our goal is to not just provide flooring, but to provide flooring solutions that improve the lives of people across every segment of the population in every life.

ecore Built by Yes.

To understand our company, you have to embrace the idea that

Yes is More.

20

Ecore is dedicated to fully understanding the relationship between people and the surfaces they work, play and live on and how we can contribute MORE. Safety, ergonomics, and acoustics are our core areas of opportunity to create dynamic surfaces that are catered to the individual and the specific application.

The Promise of Safety

The safety of the athlete is paramount. From youth athletes to the elite professionals, it is rightfully the leading topic of conversation. At Ecore, our number one concern is keeping our athletes safe, so that they can perform at their peak level for longer. Ecore surfaces mitigate injury, protect the body, and promote ultimate and safe performance.

Featuring Bounce

The Promise of Ergonomics

Running. Jumping. Falling. And bouncing back. Time and time again. From the casual workout warrior to the serious athlete, repetitive motion, swift movement, and constant impact can take a toll on the body. At Ecore, we embrace the science of Ergonomics the absorption of force and the return of energy. We develop flooring solutions that diminish fatigue, minimize discomfort, and allow athletes to perform at their highest levels. We make surfaces that sponsor longevity through innovative engineering and design.

Featuring Rally

The Promise of ACOUSTICS

The more energy a product absorbs, the shorter its life cycle. For a product to absorb a lot of energy, it must be made of a material that will deflect, allowing the falling object to penetrate or sink into the material. Ecore products feature a firm yet energy absorbing foundation that meets all physical requirements while maximizing acoustical performance and therefore reducing noise in and between functional spaces overall.

The Lyon Center University of Southern California

Los Angeles, CA

The Challenge.

As one of the world's leading private research universities, USC not only focuses on academics but also encourages an active lifestyle by providing free gym memberships to all students.

As a result of this heavy daily stream of students, USC recognized that updating the floor in the Klug Family Fitness Center weight room would remedy the existing tripping hazard and allow migration of the equipment around the space. The material would have to be low-maintenance, soundand shock-absorbent, and visually appealing.

The Lyon Center also needed to upgrade its locker rooms. The new floor not only needed to look better than the existing ceramic tile, but it also had to absorb impact force should someone still fall.

Our Solution: UltraTile®& Rally.

2,000 square feet of Everlast UltraTile was installed in USC's weight facility. The surface's patented "ultra" wear layer on a molded base provides superior noise and shock absorption. The ergonomic option of UltraTile reduces the constant impact of repetitive training, giving the students the best support in their daily routines.

In the locker room upgrade, 7,000 square feet of Performance Rally was installed. This 14.5mm dual durometer system is engineered to absorb impact force. It's much safer than ceramic tile, and meets both the aesthetic and functional needs of such a high-use area.

San Diego State University Athletic Center

San Diego, CA

The Challenge.

At a Division 1 school like San Diego State University (SDSU), sports are serious business. When SDSU renovated the Fowler Athletic Center, the 4-story, 130,000-square foot facility had to work for all of its sports programs.

The renovation particularly focused on the 13,000-square foot weight room, with a goal to become more competitive with other D1 schools and provide a more efficient training space for the 85 football players training at any given time. The existing floor was less than half an inch thick, resulting in a negative impact on athletes' joints, weights bouncing in an unsafe way, and generally unappealing wear and tear.

Our Solution: Monster.

The team found a solution in Ecore Monster, a 22.5-millimeter thick rubber athletic surface that is designed for extreme strength and conditioning. This triple durometer system combines the durability and firm footing needed for intense strength training with the ergonomic performance necessary for aggressive functional training.

The new weight room surface features 25 in-laid Olympic weightlifting platforms complete with custom logos. Today, up to six athletes are able to work at each weightlifting station at the same time. The shock-absorbent floors minimize weight bounce and joint impact, allowing the SDSU football team to train safely.

Crunch Fitness

Stockton, CA

The Challenge.

Crunch Fitness is a heavy-lifter in the fitness industry, but one of the challenges of being a quickly growing franchise is making sure that members at every location get the same high-quality, highperformance experience.

With nearly 30 different types of classes and 3,000 members working out at a single location, finding a floor that increases safety, decreases impact and shock, and absorbs enough sound so the gym doesn't sound like an echo chamber is no easy feat.

Our Solution: Bounce 2.

Both Ecore and Crunch want athletes and fitness buffs to get an elite experience. In 2015, Ecore inked a deal with the fitness giant to be the exclusive provider of all athletic surfaces for its gym locations.

To enhance Crunch's brand, Ecore provides Rally for the general fitness and free weight area in a custom blue color, and Motivate for the ride studio in custom red, along with Bounce 2 in graphite for their Group X studios, and a special Crunch Turf for their turf areas. The result is a comprehensive flooring system that is engineered to absorb the impact and sound related to aggressive functional training, while providing an ergonomically advanced surface that works in concert with the body and is safe for falls.
